19 MILLION OF PEOPLE'S MONEY IN STATE TREASURYHENRY JOHNSON SAYS 12 MILLION MORE THAN IS NEEDED.

GIVES NO RELIEF

State Extracts Money from the Public by Wonderful System.Madison.—An attack on the large balances reported to be in the state treasury was made Monday by Henry Johnson, republican candidate for state treasurer, in a statement issued here. Mr. Johnson declared that any approximately $12,000,000 more has been collected during the last two years than should have been, saying that a $12,000,000 balance in the treasury means "robbing the taxpayers to such an extent."Johnson also attacked the emergency fund for improving appropriations and declared that the balance in the treasury had led to what is called an extravagant administration."The state treasurer's report of June 30, 1924, shows a balance in the treasury of $13,000,000 in the general fund and $10,000,000 in the state fund, a total of $23,000,000," Johnson statement declares. "Can anyone explain why it is necessary to carry a balance of $12,000,000? It is merely robbing the taxpayers to such an extent.
Something is wrong with our budget system when the income and expenses are balanced but the balance isn't balanced. At least $12,000,000 in this amount should have been left in the taxpayers' pockets instead of being collected and distributed to the banks whence the taxpayers must borrow their money and pay interest for the use of it."Great purples, whether they be held by individuals or by the state, lead to extravagance. This was well understood by Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman when he opposed the granting of big appropriations by the emergency board.Speaking of the taxation system, Mr. Johnson said:"We have in Wisconsin a wonderful system of extracting money from the people. What we cannot take directly we take indirectly. Licenses are required for everything. No taxpayers will object to legitimate costs of government, but it is not good business to pile up $18,000,000 in the state treasury."Mr. Johnson denied declarations that the work of the treasurer's office had been, books poorly kept and no filing system maintained.EX-SENATOR died yesterday at his home in the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Harris where he, with Mrs. Townsend and Mrs. E. S. Leomis, her mother, were guests. He was 65 years old.Charles Elmer Townsend, United States senator from Michigan, was born way up from the ranks by unceasing application and industry. Born and reared in poverty, he picked up scrapes of an education as he could get them.

Studying law at night and teaching school by day, he gained admission to the bar at 26. After seven years of practice, he was elected to the house of representatives and subsequently to the senate.An experienced legislator and a convincing debater, Senator Townsend's advice and support were sought by the senate leaders on many important bills of legislation. He was elected to the majority whip in the house of representatives as the spokesman of President Roosevelt on tariff questions. Later, as a member of the senate interstate commerce committee, he had an active part in framing the railroad bill which restored the roads to their owners after the war.ROBBERS GET

Deserted at Sea

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Aboard U. S. S. Richmond.—The "Boston," the airplane piloted by Lieut. Leigh Wade in the American army world flight, was abandoned early this morning. The plane was taken in tow by Richmond yesterday, after Lieut. Wade and his mechanic, Sergeant Arthur M. Ogden, had been forced down at sea by engine trouble.The Richmond's effort to salvage the wrecked plane was abandoned when the machine, which had been gradually filling while be-ing towed in a heavy sea, capsized. Seeing the hopelessness of attempting further to save it, the officers cut it adrift.The Richmond then turned about and made for Reykjavik, Iceland.Both the republicans and the dem-

BUSY TEN DAYSSugar Tariff Reports Vie With Politics for His Attention.Washington.—President Coolidge faces a busy 10 days before he delivers his campaign speech here at the formal notification ceremony Aug. 11, with some knotty political problems vying with politics in his calendar.The reports of the tariff commission on the sugar tariff, in which opposite views are set forth and over which considerable controversy has waged for more than a year, are on his desk, and he expects also to make an early selection of an ambassador to Mexico to succeed Charles E. Warren, who retired yesterday.Meanwhile Mr. Coolidge plans to conclude his speech of acceptance early this week.The sugar reports are voluminous, three members of the commission recommend a reduction in the sugar rate. It is understood, while two oppose any cut, that the president has let it be known he will scrutinize the reports carefully and may submit them to the treasury department for analysis before his acts.ON THE ATTEND porters of Senator Robert M. La chairman of the Conference for Progressive Political Action, as the paign in behalf of the Wisconsin

FATIGUE, BUT IS CHEERFULAboard U. S. S. Richmond.—Lieut.
Wade, on board the Richmond, was chagrined to find that had brought his plane to safety when it was so near a conclusion, but he took the disappointment well. Describing his experiences, Lieut. Wade said:"It was the first time we had had trouble with the oil pump and our motor forced landing in the 19,000 mile distance. The first was on the Japanese coast, where we came down on water.On yesterday's flight, when the trouble came, we signalled Lieut.
Smith by waving that we were forced down; also that the engine was out of commission, requesting him to remain in our patrol. We expected to remain in our patrol, but the plane arrived. We saw a merchant vessel at 2 o'clock in the afternoon but could not attract its attention. An hour later the trawler which rescued us was sighted. We had to signal her with pistol and rifle before they noticed us.Lieut. Wade said he and Ogden were afraid they would be shot in the sandwiches and drink the water they had, not knowing how long it would be before they were rescued, but did not at any time consider their position critical. Their main anxiety was to save the plane and confine the flight after repairs had been made."It was a tough break after the four months," said Wade, "as when the four planes left, American army hoped all four would return. But it's all in the game. We did our best."Agreement in Chicago.—Dr. William Healy, Boston psychiatrist, testifying as a defense alienist today at the hearing to determine punishment for Leopold and Nathan, Leopold, Jr., for the kidnapping and murder of Robert Franks, asserted "an incredibly absurd childlike compact" brought the boys together and had bearing on the ultimate acts of the youths.Dr. Healy testified both boys had told him they would again go through with the Franks murder if their associations and the conditions were the same. He said Leopold told him he found nothing to do for him but to kill. Leopold had said he would commit the crime again if it gave him pleasure.

MATTER Unprintable.

As to the conditions of the "childish compact" which had influenced the later lives of Leopold and Loeb, Healy was silent. In open court Judge John R. Caverly ruling with Dr. Healy that the matter was un-printable and having him recite for the court stenographers for the record."Nothing that is unfit for publication is coming out here," Judge Caverly declared.He directed the attorneys and court stenographers to gather closely about the witness and Dr. Healy proceeded with his testimony in a quiet tone."Get back there you newspaper men," Judge Caverly declared as reporters and photographers pressed forward. "This is not fit for publication and I repeat invitations of to get it out."

Over State Objection.

Dr. Healy was the second alienist to testify for the defense and his testimony went in over state objection from Judge Caverly again ruling that the court had the right to listen to evidence in mitigation of punishment as he had ruled Friday when the testimony of Dr. William A. White was rejected.The greatest prices are on the choice and fancy cuts, with loin steaks and chops in the lead. The average difference between Saturday day prices and those today is 10 cents.
Extra-choice cuts, however, are up eight in 10 cents, while but little difference is noted on the poorer qualities and heavy kind.The Janesville witnesses who had recovered cars were warned by State's Attorney Johnson not to dispose of the vehicles previous to the session of the grand jury, as the machine might be used in identification. Several of the Janesville men had purchased new cars after having the others stolen.

BUILD MORE PENS FOR FAIR STOCK

Additional pens are being erected to house the livestock entered for Janesville fair opening Tuesday and continuing until Friday. All cattle stalls in the main barn were filled with stock Sunday night, the animals being brought in from Rock county and shipped down from Evansville on a stock special.

The county show herd was unboxed without a mishap and animals in place before the deluge of rain Sunday night.

The cattle and competition in the Brown Swiss judging for the N. C. Schmidt herd is entered, and the Imman, Reid, is showing a string of and the herd has four head of the Swiss cattle.

Many Cattle Entered

The Knight herd of Jerseys, which showed high percentages on the grounds, The Legan Farm herd of Holsteins from Seward, Ill., after being examined at Evansville, changed their herd and are now here, adding to the Janesville fair. There will be considerable local competition on the black and whites, and interest taken in the cattle entries, as shown by John Goldthorpe and Archie Reid, Jr., for the best male and female Holstein raised and owned in Rock county.

There will be a strong beef show for John C. Robinson to judge, there being three herds of Angus, one herd of Guernseys, and here and there a herd of beef cattle, not seen here in recent years, and Herefords.

Junior Club Show

Four pens have been erected for the junior club show—the feature of the fair, three for livestock and one for club headquarters. The junior show will be on the right side of the main entrance.

The judging in the open classes is the responsibility of the Wisconsin branch, with Prof. Ray Hulce passing judgment on the dairy cattle, including the milking shorthorns and Jersey cattle, here, while the junior club calves will be judged Thursday, so as not to conflict with the open competition. Hogs and sheep come in the open competition.

The county herd will be strengthened at Janesville by several more animals, including a three year old cow from the Waukesha Kosonos, an age Jersey bull of Ellis Douglas, and several others. Every effort will be made to put the animals in top condition for the Rock and Inter-county competition when Rock invades Green county at the fair in Monroe and Dane county, to be followed after Rock City. Rock county have county herds out and seek revenge for the defeat administered by Rock county a year ago.

POOL GROWERS SHOW ELECTION INTEREST

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Madison—Members of the Northern Wisconsin Tobacco Pool, said to be one of the largest of its kind in the nation, will convene in seventy-five tobacco-growing towns to select representatives to district conventions, which in turn will be followed by the annual pool convention here on August 12.

One delegate will be selected by each precinct meeting for every ten men present at the sessions. These delegates will go to district sessions on July 2. Sixteen districts exist under the pool plan. State convention delegates will be chosen at the district conventions.

The pool meeting here will transact all business of the pool, elect officers and make plans for the work of the coming year. Lively interest is expected in the annual convention.

New Traffic Signs Being Installed

The city street department is installing 50 new street stop signs throughout the city.

The signs are of an orange hue and although small in size are clearly evident to drivers. They are being placed directly in the middle of the street at crosswalks.

The new signs, according to City Manager Harry Traxler, will not inconvenience drivers but will give them an opportunity on main highways to drive many blocks without stopping.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION AND SCHOOL TAX

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Madison—The general tax rate of school districts for the current year is 2.5 per cent of the assessed valuation of taxable property in the district for the preceding year and is not affected by the homestead exemption law which became effective this year, the attorney general of the state advised John Callahan, state school superintendent.

The tax limitation for next year will be 2.5 per cent of the assessed value for 1924, exclusive of the homestead exemption, the ruling further stated.

The tax limit may be raised by school districts this year without regard to the homestead law, it was stated.

WARRANT ISSUED FOR AN EMPLOYER

Madison—What is said to be the first criminal warrant ever issued in Wisconsin for an employee charged with failure to carry workmen's compensation insurance was issued in Milwaukee yesterday. Kerec, former restaurant proprietor, according to industrial commission officials.

Under the Wisconsin law, each day an employee fails to carry insurance subjects him to a fine of $10 to $100 or 30 days to six months in jail, it is stated. The case will be prosecuted by the state as a test.

CARNIVAL COMPANIES AVOIDING THE STATE

Madison—Carnival companies are avoiding Wisconsin to a large extent this summer as the result of the state's new regulations adopted by J. T. Ballard, state treasury agent, Ballard reported Monday.

Under the new regulations put in force this season, carnival firms must sign an agreement not to operate certain types of amusements before being permitted to operate in the state.

"AGGIE" TEACHERS MEET IN OSHKOSH

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oshkosh—Standards of vocational work in the various high schools were the subjects of discussion at the opening session of the annual conference of vocational agriculture instructors here. The conference will continue throughout the week, with discussions by state and national leaders. The 1924-25 school year program for vocational work will be worked out during the week.

Leading today's discussions was L. M. Sasmann, state director of vocational agriculture. He spoke on "Smith-Hughes Standards," emphasizing that vocational instructors should strive to maintain methods and courses on the same basis as outlined by the state and federal departments of agriculture. The subject of a talk by V. E. Kiley, Portage, and M. C. Kelley, Belleville, Ninety minute periods in class work were discussed by J. L. Grafton, and E. M. Tiffany, state director of agriculture.

"Today's sessions will be devoted to discussions of supervised farm practice, lead by W. C. Christian, Brown, Chippewa, Falls and T. G. Brown, Oshkosh.

L. A. Linke, Washington, supervisor of the north central states in the federal vocational work, will be the headlining speaker on Wednesday. He will speak on some departments of vocational agriculture and the methods by which the various state departments are judged and their work rates. Of importance also on Wednesday, will be a discussion of the part farmers can play in vocational work, lead by E. E. Price, Fond du Lac.

Prof. J. A. Jameson, college of agriculture, will outline the Smith-Hughes program on Thursday and the question of perfecting a state organization of agricultural teachers will be discussed by T. B. Adams, Fond du Lac, featured by an address by W. P. Stewart of Ohio, and one by George P. Hare, state vocational director on the work accomplished in Wisconsin.

Excursions to vocational projects near Oshkosh will close the conference Saturday.

J. W. Wissman, Janesville and Leon Dunsterville, Milton, are attending the Oshkosh session.

High Camp Honors Awarded to Nine

Nine boys who were at Camp Rainydale this summer were awarded the "C. R." emblem, the highest honor given to campers there according to the report of A. E. Hermann, community boys' work secretary and camp director. They are Robert Jarvis, John Hatchett, David Wilbur, Gordon Schultz, Robert Cullen, Allen Taylor, Fred Bierkness, Edward Fisher and Regis Colby.

The emblem is a gold foil, with the C. R. emblem in white, and have never been given to more than one boy in any one session. They are awarded on a basis similar to that followed at the state Y. M. C. A. Camp of Phantom Lake, taking into account physical, moral, mental and social signs of character.

Fair to Feature Youths' Contests on Opening Day

All children who desire to participate in the track and field meet at the fair grounds on opening day, Tuesday afternoon, are being invited to meet at their respective playgrounds, according to Director Arthur Wheeler, and go in a body to the grounds, where they will be in one body to be given instruction.

The meetings are called for as soon after noon as possible, and while no time has been set, the group must be at the fair grounds by 3 p. m., making it necessary to leave most schools by 1 p. m. or a little after.

A. E. Bergman, community news work secretary, will have charge of the events, and will be assisted by Mr. Wheeler and the playground director.

Warning is given that only a limited amount of time will be allowed following the announcement of each event, to avoid the necessity of postponing part on account of lateness. Children should wear tennis shoes. It is advised, and those who expect to enter the bicycled race must bring their own bicycles.

Contestants will be divided into five classes according to age, 9 to 11 years, 11 to 13 years, 13 to 16 years, 16 to 18 years, and 18 and over. Lists of events are posted at each playground in the city. The grounds will be closed on Tuesday afternoon.

DELAVAL AT APEX OF NEAR TORNADO; EDGERTON HIT

The babies were placed on shelves to keep them out of the water.

Barn Burned.

Mike Dugan's barn at East Delavan was another casualty of the storm, being struck by lightning.

In Delavan, hundreds of persons were attending the chautauqua on the opening night. When the wind grew in strength many fled home and the program was halted at 3 p. m. when the lights were extinguished.

The streets presented miniature streams, with a foot of water filling it from curb to curb and covering the sidewalks. Limbs of trees were sent flying across the streets and front yards of Delavan homes.

At Portion of the storm, Sunday night, caused several windmills to be overturned and trees to be broken down. Electric and telephone wires were out of commission during the storm. Some buildings were struck here, though the rainfall was heavy and farm crops suffered damage.

At Edgerton

Edgerton reported considerable damage, with the heaviest rain storm of the year, which flooded basements of stores and tobacco warehouses on West Fulton street.

Lightning struck in several places and a small airplane "crashed the bucket" when it attempted to alight.

The animal was owned by William Schleifstein, who has a mail route, and the wire was down on Mechanic street. The animal was instantly killed.

Lightning did slight damage at the home of James W. and the fire department was called out. The chimney on the windsor school was struck but no damage done other than a few bricks being removed.

Edgerton was plunged into darkness at 7:30 p. m. Sunday and remained throughout the night, serving no bell, restored until Monday.

Telephone service, especially in the country, was impaired. It was reported at the Edgerton exchange.

In Janesville

The heavy wind and torrent of rain damaged a number of tents, all unoccupied, and the Janesville fair grounds. Fair followers waded around the grounds between 10 with boats early Monday morning, when an army of men was put to work to drain off the water for Tuesday.

The drainage helped, for the water only collected in low spots and, unless the rain continued, further storms, the ground will be in good condition for the opening day Tuesday.

The giant tent to house the automobile exhibit sagged under the rain and went down in a gust of wind.

All livestock was under cover of the permanent barns and was not bothered by the storm. Two of the permanent barns were alarmed and being tied up to a post, staked. They did not separate.

Stop Threshing Operations.

The storm will delay the cutting of grain from two to four days, depending on the coming weather conditions.

Threshing operations already started in the county are impossible under present weather conditions. Ripped corn, ready for the mower, was damaged and has not yet harvested further damaged by excessive moisture. A few fields were flattened.

2½ Inches of Rain.

Up to noon, there had been 2½ inches of rainfall in Janesville and the rain was still falling. At that time it was reported that the rain would continue throughout the day. It was then falling at the rate of a little more than one-sixteenth of an inch an hour.

The temperature Monday was dropping from 76 at 8 a. m. to 56 at noon. It was above 80 Sunday afternoon, starting at 80 at 8 a. m. and falling away to 76 at noon, when showers began.

Long Distance Lines Out.

While there were 56 cases of telephone trouble in Janesville, long distance phones were in bad shape because of lightning. Up to 12:30 Monday, there was no telephone connection between Janesville and Chicago, nor with Detroit. The Delavan-Beloit line was down for 11 poles on the ground. There were 10 to 15 cases of toll trouble west of Janesville, principally around Mineral Point and Shullsburg. For a while Monday morning, there was

The City of Janesville

Ninety-one miles to Chicago; 71 miles to Milwaukee; 41 miles to Madison.
Population 20,000. Census of 1890, 18,200.
County seat of Rock county, one of the richest agricultural and industrial centers in the country. Center of dairy and its state interests.
Leading producers of honey in Wisconsin.

Was great when it was great. The Fox river furnishes water power to numerous industries.
Many different manufactures here—cotton, clothing, iron and steel, woolen goods, fountain pen, leather, motor, motor and Fisher body companies. Janesville Daily Gazette third oldest newspaper in state.

City manager since 1924. Janesville has an active Chamber of Commerce where every manner of information in reference to the city may be had for the asking.

Smuggling in the Aliens

Now that a law has been passed correcting the entrance of immigrants in large numbers, we have added to the other crimes of smuggling—those of narcotics and liquors being accepted as habitual—that of bootlegging the alien.

This has been going on for a great number of years, in fact ever since the Chinese exclusion act was passed. A regular business of getting Chinese into the United States over the Canadian border has been operated. We have brought here several thousands of Celestials who have never passed the immigration officers. A score or more of "immigrant running rings" have been broken up. The Chinaman is easily identified and not often has been able to remain uncaught by federal officials. It is different in cases where men are quite of the same race as are general in cities.

The smuggled immigrant may readily hide.
Run running ships are turning to immigrant running as a more profitable job. The smuggler makes about $10 a case on liquor but up to $1,000 on a bootlegged immigrant of the class that would take this method of getting into the United States.

In time, should this continue and the result show we are receiving several thousand undesirable and legally excluded aliens by this method, we shall be obliged to card each person here with a registration system, not at all satisfactory to Americans—or else we shall be obliged to exercise something more of a police power in checking it than we have regarding booze. The "good" citizens who have been aiding the booze runners will of course feel that other smuggling should be permitted in order to be wholly consistent.
But we shall have to get busy on the exclusion act will be nullified by the same crooks who have made the prohibition enforcement a joke along the coast near New York city and on the Canadian border.

The girl may carry a vanity case but the most absurd case of vanity is the six hairs combed over the bald spot on a man's head.

Listening-in on a 'phone.

It has been decided in a Vienna, Austria, court that when a person insults another over the telephone and a third party listens in, the action of the first party does not constitute slander. In order that slander may be such under the law, there must always be a third party who hears the slanderous statements. The Vienna courts have decided that the insults were not "public" notwithstanding the listener-in heard on a party line. We do not seem to have tried this question here in America, but it will be another reason why it is not so serious for insulting language to be used over the three-party line hereafter, no matter if the neighbors are listening; providing the courts are in agreement with the Austrian view of a similar case.

"Prosperity is cutting a new tooth"—advertisement.
But some of the politicians say the new ones are false.

The trouble about voting is that it costs nothing.
If the candidates would sell tickets permitting the bearer admission to the polls it might raise the vote percentage up above 50. At fifty cents a head this would provide a campaign fund for each candidate if equally divided, amounting to $25,000,000. This idea should appeal to the persons in politics who feel that the only honest campaign fund is the one raised for himself.

The democratic heart will probably be something for Dawes to peck at.

The Russian Izvestia, a newspaper of an official character, tells of a rumored shortage in the wheat crop and that "rumors of coming famine were heard. Bread prices rose. Speculators take advantage of the situation and try to spread the rumors." All of which would go to show that with the powerful weapons in the hands of the soviet and the rule of the dictatorship of the proletariat, there are speculators. We propose to wipe out the same speculators in these United States by a few new statutes passed by legislatures—an absurdity on its face.

It's almost got to where it's Bryan and Davis.
Those who can afford it may now have hay fever as the season has arrived.

A democratic candidate for governor out in Kansas was arrested on the charge of possession of liquor, drunkenness, resisting an officer and failing to display lights on his car. He picked the wrong state. There are others where he might be fined for failing to display lights but the other charges are inconsequential.

DEAFNESS AND ITS TREATMENT

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington.—At least 16 percent of the people in the United States are deaf to some extent, according to conservative ear specialists. They also say that 75 percent of all ear troubles could be prevented. In other words there are literally millions of cases of unnecessary deafness in this country.

Doctors still know comparatively little about diseases of the ear. There are specialists who prefer not to accept advanced cases of deafness because the chances of improving the patients' hearing or of stopping the progress of the disease are so slight. Some day research may disclose new and powerful measures of combating germs that injure hearing, so that the germs may be vanquished even when they seem to have the upper hand. But at present the most remarkable progress in the science of the ear deals mainly with prevention and early treatment of deafness.

MEM

MISTRESS WILDING:

A ROMANCE, BY RAFAEL SABATINI.

(Author of "Scaramouche," "Captain Blood," "Fortune's Fool," etc.)
Time was lost and never was more precious in convincing the slope that this was no old wife's tale. At last, however, he was away and twenty musketeers; but the quarter-part the hour had chimed when they left the Castle. He led them forth at a sharp run, with never a thought for the circumstance that they would need their breath anon, or perhaps for fighting, and he bade the men who guided them take them by back streets that they might attract as little attention as possible.

Within a stone's-throw of the house he halted them, and sent one forward to reconnoiter, following himself with the others as quietly as possible. Now, Mr. Wellington's house was all alike, but from the absence of up--sounding there were in plenty from the main street, where a dense throng had collected to see His Majesty go in—Mr. Wilding inferred with supreme relief that they were still in the city. The danger was not past. Already, perhaps, the assassins were penetrating—or had penetrated—to the house; and at any moment such sounds might greet them as would announce the execution of their murderous design.

Meanwhile, Mr. Trenchard, having reloaded his pipe and set his hat rakishly atop his head, had strolled up the High street, swinging his long cane very much like a gentleman taking the air in quest of an appetite for supper. He strolled past the Cross and on until he came to the handsome mansion—one of the few unbroken houses in Bridgewater—where opulent Mr. Wellington had his residence. The small crowd had congregated about the doors, for word had gone forth that His Majesty was to sue there. Trenchard moved slowly through the people, seemingly uninterested, but smiling, smiling closely every face he encountered. Suddenly, out of the corner of his eye, he espied in the indolent light Mr. Richard Westmacott.

Trenchard passed him, jostling him as he went, and strolled on some few paces, then turned, and came slowly back, and observed that Richard had not moved, and was now watching him as he approached.

He was all but upon the boy whom suddenly his wrinkled face lit with recognition.

"Mr. Westmacott!" he cried, and there was surprise in his voice.

Richard, conscious that Trenchard must regard him as a turn-tippet, flushed and sullenly awoke to give passage to the other. But Mr. Trenchard was by no means minded to pass. He clapped a hand on Richard's shoulder. "Nay," he cried, between laughter and faltered whisper. "Do you bear me ill-will?"

Richard was somewhat taken aback. "For what should I bear ill-will, Mr. Trenchard?" quoth he.

Trenchard laughed frankly, and so uproariously that his hat overjoyfully cocked was all but shaken from his head. "I mind not the last time we met, but played you an unfair trick," said he. His tone bespake the very highest good humour. He slipped his arm through Richard's. "Never bear an old man malice, lad," said he.

"I assure you that I bear you none," said Richard, relieved to find that Trenchard apparently knew nothing of his detection, yet wishing that Trenchard would go his ways, for Richard's task was to stand sentinel.

"I'll not believe you till you attest my proof," Trenchard replied. "You shall come and wash your resentment down in the best bottle of Canary the White Cow can furnish us."

"Not now, I thank you," answered Richard. "You are thinking of the last occasion on which I drank with you."

"Not so. But I am not thirsty."

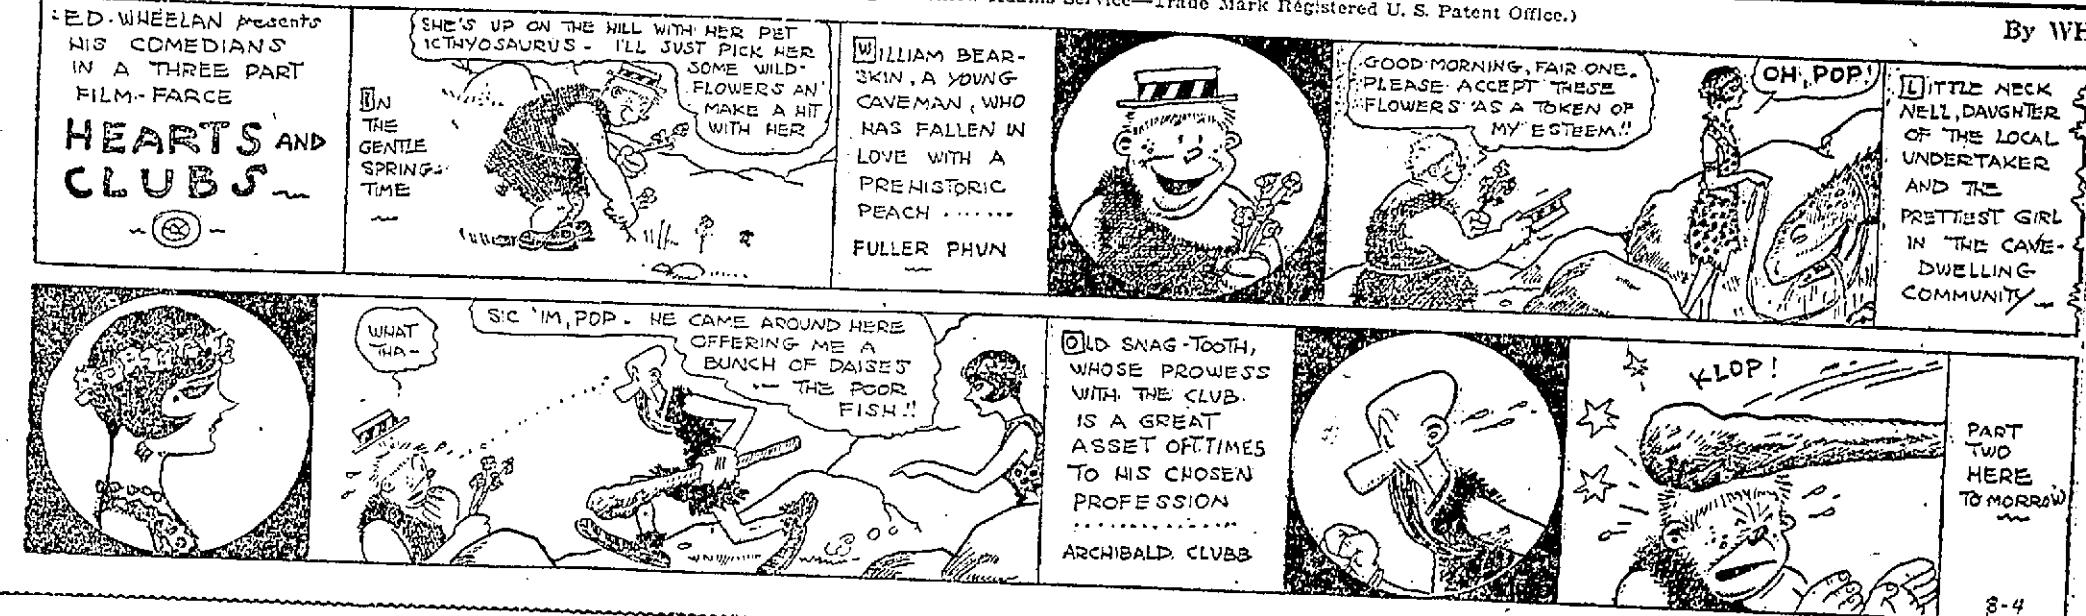

"Not thirsty," echoed Trenchard. "And is that a reason? Why, lad, it is the beast that drinks only when he thirsts. And in that has one of the main differences between beast and man. Come on"—and his arm effected a mighty pressure upon Richard's to move him hence. But at that moment, down the street with a great rumble of wheels crackling of whips and clatter of hoofs, came a coach bearing to Mr. Wellington's King Monmouth carriage by his forty life-guards. Cheering broke from the crowd as the carriage drove by, and the Duke of King as he alighted turned his handsome face, on which shone the radiance of torches, to acknowledge these loyal acclamations. He passed up the steps at the top of which Mr. Wellington—fat and pale and monosyllabic—wondered—stood bowing to welcome a royal visitor. Host and guest vanished followed by some six officers of Wellington, among whom were Grey and Wade. The sight-seers flattened themselves against the walls at the great luminescent put about and went off again in the way they came, the life-guards following after.

Trenchard fancied that he caught a sigh of relief from Richard, but the street was noisy at the time, and he may well have been mistaken. "Come," said he, renewing his in-

FINGER NAIL HINTS

Mrs. Eldred is happy to advise all mothers about the care of their children of any age, or on any subject which does not belong to the field of the doctor.

Mrs. G. J. F. writes:

"I am a daily reader of your fine department and have received help from it. My baby is 19 months old and weighs 23 pounds. Is that all right? He seems to be healthy in every way. Are potatoes good for him? He likes them very much. He has only his milk front teeth and no signs of any more. What is wrong? His grandmother says he should not go barefooted, but it is so hot and I right?"

"He is the only grandchild and so very spoiled. I do not want him this way, as he is of that age is no better off when he gets his own way. His grandmother is still quite outgrown. While I think he will only get worse, I hope I shall see this answer soon."

Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON.

Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

DENIED HAPPINESS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl almost 19 years of age and want a good time. My father won't let me go anywhere. I keep house for him, do all the work around the house, and he won't give me any spending money. He won't let me have boy friends. Please tell me what to do. Mother is living and he won't let me go to see her and he won't let me go to my aunts. I am disappointed.

BOB S.

Write to your mother, and to your aunts and see if they can't help you in this way. I think if your mother tried, she could get a court order demanding that your father let you go to her place.

It may be, however, that the divorce suit if there was one, was settled in such a way that your father has no custody. Make the best of your time with your father and prepare yourself so that you can break away and be able to support yourself.

BROKENHEARTED HUSBAND

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have only been married six months, but need advice. My husband keeps writing to me in a foreign state and she writes to him. I have had a letter telling of his marriage, but he sends her a letter telling her not to mind me. He refuses to tell or show me what is in the letter. I love my husband, but don't think he is doing right. Do you think he would keep writing to me if he loved me? I told him I would not stand it and so he begged me to stay, telling me he would not write any more, but he has broken his promise. Please tell me what to do.

HEARTBROKEN BRIDE OF SIX MONTHS

Your husband is not doing the right thing and I think he deserves a good spanking.

Buttermilk Biscuits—Heat butter-milk which is not too sour, about a cup of hot water, half a tablespoon of salt and two tablespoons of melted butter. Beat well and gradually add enough sifted flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on a board. Knead until very smooth and roll into a sheet, cut in biscuits, lay in an oven pan, and bake in a moderate oven.

Jellied Tomato Soup

Three cups tomato, three bouillon cubes, one onion, one bay leaf, one and one-half teaspoons minced parsley, celery leaves or salt; three teaspoons gelatine, few peppercorns, few sprigs thyme. Simmer the tomatoes, onion, bay leaf and celery until seasonings until quite soft and strain. There should be three cups of the juice. Add the minced parsley and bouillon cubes. Soften the gelatine in three tablespoons of cold water and dissolve in the hot juice. Season to taste with paprika and salt. This makes a colored soup jelly but delicious. Garnish with finely chopped green pepper.

Caramel Pudding

One quart milk, one cup sugar, two heaping tablespoons cornstarch, one teaspoon vanilla. Brown sugar over fire, pour heated milk into it, add cornstarch dissolved in a little cold water. Cook until thick. Flavor with the vanilla.

SUGGESTIONS

If a jelly cake is turned out on a damp cloth it can be rolled without breaking.

To prevent a tin boiler from rusting rub well with laundry soap while the boiler is yet warm.

A damp cloth dipped in either salt or soda and rubbed on cups will remove the tea or coffee stains.

Care for thermos bottles are apt to get musty. A piece of cake is taken to eat. This musty cake spoils the flavor of the coffee. Before putting away the thermos bottles boil the cork, adding a little baking soda to the water. Then instead of putting the corks in the bottles tie them to the necks of the bottles. They will keep sweet and dry.

Janes Keep Half Game Lead by Deafeating Fort, 6 to 1

Lanphere Allows Only Five Hits; Brodhead Second

With "Pete" Lanphere's southpaw curve ball breaking just right enough that he held his foes to five scattered hits, the Janesville Boosters played a bang-up baseball at Fort Atkinson, Sunday afternoon, and won, 6 to 1. It was Lanphere's seventh straight league win this season and his eighth of the year with the Janes.

Janesville played a remarkable game of baseball. Superb support was given all the way around and sometimes it was extremely spectacular.

1,500 placed the attendance at 1,500 one of the best crowds at any league game this year.

Brodhead went into second place by defeating Edgerton, 8 to 2, while the Fox was losing, Milton defeated Cambridge, 11 to 6.

Port Plays Well.

The Port played good baseball.

Every man on the club was anxious to win and Pitcher Frank made a fine attempt to come up with a few unfortunate errors in addition to the fact that the Boosters had their batting eyes going nicely for 12 hits of which 11 were bunched, of which the story.

Janesville always works well behind Lanphere, but Sunday was marked by theisplay of such assistance to the crack hitting that no game of the past two seasons can be compared with it. The Janes just went in there and took everything that came their way. For eight innings, they gave perfect support, except for the unusual occurrence of a two throw to second by Catcher Gregory. In the last frame, the infield became somewhat careless and three errors followed in quick succession, although they did not prove costly.

Lanphere's Day.

It was Lanphere's day in there. Only in the second inning were the Millers able to make blunders count when they made the first score of the contest on two hits. "Doc" Browne, the first, got home to connect when he got a double to right field and was scored by immediately by Captain Hornicke's nice single to center field. Hornichie got to second base in that stance on the aforementioned high pop by Gregory and after that only one man saw third base, which was nevered to be in play. That man was "Manny" and old-timer, the fact that only one other time in the game did a Port man get to second and that was Mr. Hornicke.

Of the Port's five hits, Hornicke got two and Brown two, Alten making the other.

The work of Les Fire, Janesville captain and short, and that of Pemberton, corner second baseman, kept the Port from getting hits.

Fire had eight assists, while Brook had six of them assists. He made two star catches running sideways with the ball. He made one assist when he threw while lying on his back. Pemberton had seven assists and would have had a perfect day but for a little loss in the ninth when he hustled hastily in the first and was hit in the second.

Worthy had 12 putouts, two of them unassisted, while Goein did some good fielding, though he was a bit too anxious and made two errors in the ninth.

Janesville Scores.

Janesville placed three men on the sack in the first inning, but an infield fly by Gregory and an infield out by Pemberton ended the chances of scoring.

Charley Blatt, Lake Kashkonee, gathering 12 hits off Flemming and Crossman, the Milton American League defeated Cambridge, 11 to 8. In the game of 11 to 8, it was a chapter of hits by heavy hits and runs. There were 12 hits in the second game, a home run, and a man's effort. Drive was good.

Men's effort drove well, deciding factors in St. Louis 3 to 1 victory over Washington. Judge saved the Senators from a shutout with a four base hit in the eighth—ability to drive was essential caused the downfall of the Seniors, going to win the battle. Flemming had been going good, but his support was ragged.
